

Safeguarding Children and Young People

Name of organisation: Dublin Dance Festival, Festival House, 12 East Essex Street, Dublin 2

Dublin Dance Festival's services and activities to children and young people: Dublin Dance Festival (DDF) presents outstanding dance experiences for the widest possible audience each year in May and at other times of the year, working with organisations and venues nationally and internationally, who share our vision. We provide opportunities for children and young people to experience dance through the dance productions we present on stage and through participative dance projects, workshops and initiatives which we lead. We also engage with children and young people through research and development work, seminars and discussions.

The Board and Management of Dublin Dance Festival are fully committed to making sure that children and young people are protected and kept safe from harm while they are in contact or working with the organisation. We recognise that we have a duty of care on occasions where children, young people, vulnerable adults and older people are working with or availing of the services of the organisation. We take responsibility for ensuring good practice, appropriate policies and procedures and the fulfilment of our legal obligations in this area.

Principles to safeguard children from harm: Our principles and procedures follow below. These should be observed to ensure, in so far as possible, that children are safe from harm while attending or participating in Festival events. These guiding principles apply to core and seasonal staff who work with the Festival, to our Board and to volunteers, interns and students who are placed with the Festival.

- DDF staff and artists/facilitators/volunteers who work directly with children through our projects and programmes are Garda vetted
- Designated staff have undertaken Tusla online Child Protection Training – Children First E-Learning
- Children who see our work and take part in our programmes will be accompanied by a parent/guardian, teacher or group leader, chaperone who has been approved by the children's parents
- Parents/guardians or teachers should inform DDF staff if there are any specific needs required during a child's participation at an event
- For workshops and events, there will always be two staff members, parents, guardians, artists present for children's events and we will maintain a register of all those entering the workshop/event/programme
- DDF will report all child protection or welfare concerns to Tusla/Gardaí
